SERMON SNAPSHOT

Good morning, and welcome to Sunset! Happy Mother's Day! Whether you've been a mother for 70 years or this is your first Mother's Day, we are so grateful for the ways you invest in God's Kingdom through the love, sacrifice, encouragement, wisdom, and care you show every day. We pray you feel honored and appreciated today.

This morning, we're going to study Psalm 13 together and think about something many Christians may not have thought much about: Lament.

What do we do when life hurts, and God feels distant? What do we do when our prayers seem unanswered, our hearts feel heavy, and we are overwhelmed with anxiety, grief, or disappointment? Many of us assume that strong faith means always sounding positive, always appearing joyful, and never expressing confusion or sorrow to God. But the Psalms show us something different. God invites us to bring our real, raw emotions to him.

Psalm 13 teaches us that lament is not the opposite of faith. Lament is faith refusing to let go of God in the middle of pain. David cries out honestly, reveals his pain, asks God for help, clings to God's faithful love, and ultimately chooses worship before the answer arrives.

I love you all,
Phillip
