FAMILY FOCUS

Good morning, and welcome to Sunset! Psalms 119:114 says, "You are my shelter and my shield; I put my hope in your word." May our time together in worship today increase our confidence in God and his word. We are so glad you're here.

Like myself, many of you are looking forward to your Thanksgiving plans this week. I know my Thanksgiving will be spent doing three of my favorite things: watching football, eating good food, and spending time with family. What could be better than that? However, it is always worth mentioning that this can be a tough time of year for many people. There are loved ones who were at last year's Thanksgiving who passed away and won't be at this year's celebration. There are family conflicts that are tough to navigate around the holidays. Some don't have many family members, and the holidays remind them of that. I hope we, as the church, will be generous to those who struggle this time of year. I pray we will open our homes and hearts to those who might not have a place to be. May God bless you and your family, and happy Thanksgiving! We are indeed so blessed.

I love you all,
 Phillip
