Good morning and welcome to Sunset! We truly are honored by your presence this morning. A big welcome to all of our guests. Thank you so much for being here to worship with us. May God be honored in all that we do.

What an encouraging day we experienced last Sunday. At second service, we were able to pray for our sister, Linda Baird, involving some family situations she is dealing with now. We also were able to witness the baptism of the Dakoda Baxter. Please pray for these two individuals in the weeks to come and let's strive to be a source of encouragement to them both.

We had the privilege of welcoming three new families to Sunset. We introduced James and Samantha Cowan, and their sons Jackson and Tucker. The Cowans live near Dadeville, where James runs a mowing business and coaches at Dadeville high school. Samantha has recently resigned from her position at the hospital in Bolivar and plans to stay home with the boys.

We also introduced Mike and Kathy Moore. They live in the Republic area and Mike works for Jack Henry. Kathy works for OACAC here in Springfield. They are the parents of our Jessica Moore, and Kathy is the daughter of our Glenn and Sherry Austin and the niece of Ray Austin.

Finally, we were able to officially introduce Amy Johnson. Amy recently moved here from Nashville to be closer to her parents, Don and Nancy. Amy also lives in Republic and works from her home on school curriculum for Discovery Network. Amy is teaching an English class once a week for some of our Hispanic community. Please try and introduce yourself to these three new families as soon as you have an opportunity.

May everyone have a blessed week . . .

Dwight
